

Survey experiments and public opinion research

PALO workshop | April 24–25, 2019 | Åbo Akademi University

There is a growing scholarly interest in various types of survey experiments in the study of political behavior. This workshop focuses on empirical studies that examine the behavior of citizens and elites, with a particular emphasis on experimental methods.

Keynote speakers

Diana Mutz (University of Pennsylvania): How much is one American worth?

Rune Slothuus (Aarhus University): How political parties help structuring and shaping public opinion formation

Sofie Marien (University of Leuven): Survey experiments on the macro-level effects of participatory processes on perceptions of legitimacy

Patrik Öhberg (University of Gothenburg): Experimenting with politicians: What do politicians think of being part of experimental studies?

The event is free of charge and open to all.
